

What the Housewife Wants to Know

It is a fact that the meats which we sell are far superior to those commonly sold from market; the reason of this is that quality is our first consideration when making our selections. Another reason is that we do not leave it to the discretion of those from whom we buy to deliver what they see fit—we personally inspect every piece of meat which enters our doors, consequently we can guarantee every piece which we sell. The meat question is an important one in every home and we believe that we can convince you that it is to your advantage to patronize our market, if you will give us a fair trial.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

I am building a car into a roadster and would like to know what material to use for a cowl and what thickness or gauge. Can you give me some information on this subject?

You could use either steel or aluminum for this. The sheet steel used by body makers runs anywhere from 18 to 22 gauge.

Would there be any objection to using denatured alcohol undiluted in the radiator? When alcohol and water are used the mixture is a dead loss after the need is past. If all alcohol could be used, then after the danger of freezing was over it could be drained off and used for other purposes or saved and used again. This being the case, would it not be more economical than using a solution of alcohol and water? Would the loss from evaporation be enough to offset the saving?

It is evident that you have given too little thought to evaporation in this connection. In the first place, you could not get the desired cooling effect from the use of denatured alcohol alone. The boiling point of denatured alcohol is 173 degrees F., while that of water is 212 F., although either gives off vapor considerably before these degrees of temperature are reached. Water begins to give off vapor at about 150 degrees, while alcohol begins to vaporize shortly after the 100 degree mark is passed. To give you some idea of how much greater extent alcohol evaporates under the ordinary heat generated by the motor than does water it may be said that the ratio as between alcohol and water is approximately ten to one.

Some engines stop almost immediately after the switch is cut off, while other engines seem to lose their momentum gradually. Why is this?

When the switch is cut off on an engine it is merely a matter of bringing to rest the moving parts which are no longer propelled by the explosion of the gases in the combustion chamber. Only one influence is probably great enough to be considered as the opposing factor to the movement of the motor, and this is the internal friction. When this has exerted its influence to such an extent that the motor is unable to turn itself over against the compression of the cylinders it will come to rest. The compression is not an opposing factor unless the momentum is sufficient to carry the motor over top center, because when it is carried over top center the expansion of the compressed air gives up practically all the power which was utilized in compressing it. If the compression were used before the engine will be unable to turn itself over the dead point. With these considerations it will be easily seen that a motor with tight bearings, tight piston rings and high compression will come to rest much quicker than one which has the opposite conditions.

Has a long stroke motor any advantages over a short stroke motor?

Yes. The gas after ignition has greater chance to give up its energy to the piston. A greater volume of gas may be got into the cylinder without increasing the bore. This means more power for the same piston speed.

Will you please tell me the best way to put kerosene into the cylinders for removing carbon without removing the spark plugs?

The only way you can pour kerosene into the cylinders is through some opening, and the only openings provided in the ordinary motor besides spark cocks are those occupied by spark plugs and valve plugs. If you do not want to remove these, then you will have to feed the oil through the air intake of the carburetor while the engine is running.

The coal oil gives best results if poured into the cylinders when the engine is hot and allowed to remain in the motor for at least ten hours. About one-half a tumblerful should be poured into each cylinder.

Is there any way of determining what gear ratio on final drive would prove most satisfactory?

The gear ratio is determined after the motor characteristics are ascertained. Suppose, for example, that the maximum power of the motor is developed at 1,500 revolutions per minute and it is desired to give the car a maximum speed of fifty miles per hour. A reduction is used which will cause the car to show fifty miles per hour when the motor is turning over at 1,500 revolutions per minute. The most satisfactory ratio depends upon your motor and how you wish the car to perform.

Can you tell me of a good compound that will clean out the rust, scum and other foreign matter that accumulates in the radiator and the cooling system of a car?

Dissolve a half pound of lye in about five gallons of water. Strain this solution and pour into the radiator and cooling system. When this is done allow the engine to run about twenty minutes, which is enough time for the solution to do its work. It should then be drained off. The cooling system should then be washed out several times with clean water.

Will you please explain fully the method of fitting and lapping in new piston rings?

Place the cylinders on the bench and apply some ground glass and oil to the interior. The ground glass should be very fine. Then place the piston in the cylinder and work it in and out until the rings are well polished and fit tight. Lapping is an operation which requires an experienced man. Furthermore, it is advisable to use an old cylinder wherever possible, as there is danger of wearing the new cylinder.

I have trouble in starting my car when warm. I have always to spin it. It starts readily if thrown into high when rolling down a grade. What causes this difficulty?

The fact that you have no trouble in starting the motor when cold would indicate immediately that the trouble is not in the ignition system. If you will try a slightly richer mixture on the carburetor it may relieve the trouble. Another possible cause is that the valves may be adjusted too closely, so that when cold they close, but when warm there is an air leak that dilutes the mixture. Carbon trouble also acts this way at times, and if the motor has not been cleaned out lately it is suggested that the carbon be removed. Another possible feature which does not come under the head of ignition is that the dry batteries may be weak.

LET US MAKE OUR CLEAN UP DAY A BIG DAY FOR GRAYLING.

We are undertaking this work for the good of the community and with a view of preventing contagious diseases. Visitors will soon be flocking into our city so let us put on our best bib and tucker and present the best possible appearance.

Filthy alleys, outhouses, rubbish piles and everything that pertains to menage the public health must go. Be patriotic and help us clean up.

"MID SUMMER EVE."

"Mid Summer Eve," given for the benefit of the new M. E. church, Friday evening at the Temple theatre was a success both financially and as an entertainment. There were thirty-one in the cast ranging from tiny tots to young ladies. Helen Wescott took the leading part as a child lost in the forest. Her expression was excellent and she assumed the role in a most pleasant manner. The Will-o'-wisp and the green elves each had songs and dances with flashlights. They sang very well and with their dances gave variety to the play. Milton Hathaway appeared as the Herald and blew the blast that announced the coming of the moon queen. This part was taken by Miss Grace Bauman, who sang a solo part very sweetly. Little Virginia Hanson and Helen Schumann made a hit as the fairies. They sang a little fairy song which ended with a little graceful dance. Eight young ladies, as flowers, looked like fresh spring buds as they danced in front of the queen of the forest, who was Miss Mildred Wilbur. As the queen took her place on the throne she was accompanied by the entire cast, and after they had taken their places around the throne the stage sitting was particularly pretty. Miss Wilbur sang two solos which were very well rendered. Little George Schroeder and Jimmie Jameson acted as pages. Between the first and second act the audience were entertained by a vocal solo by Miss Lucile Campbell and a violin solo by Mr. Frank Anstett. Both these selections were very much enjoyed. Clark's orchestra played several selections before and during the interval between acts. The entertainment was under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. Wescott and Mrs. T. W. Hanson, who deserve much credit for the success.

Little Daughter of Holger Schmidt Died.

A sadness came over the home of Holger C. Schmidt and family last Friday, when the Angel of death came and claimed their beloved and youngest child, Genevieve Ellen, age almost five years.

She was a pretty brown-eyed little girl and her sweet and loving disposition not only endeared her to every member of the household, but to all who knew her. She had not been in very good health for two or three weeks past, but had been up and taken her place with the family every day. The mother, who was worried about her, thought that now that Spring was here, she would be able to be out-of-doors more and would soon become stronger. But the child became very restless during Thursday night and passed away at seven o'clock Friday morning without a struggle in the mother's arms.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the home at 2:30 o'clock, and was conducted by Rev. Mitchell. Besides the bereaved parents, one sister and four brothers survive the little girl. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt have the sympathy of a host of friends in their sorrow.

Announcement.

Owing to a recent misunderstanding between the school board and one of the local associations concerning the use of the school building, we as custodians of this property for the benefit of the tax payers, wish to explain to the citizens of Grayling township our position in this matter.

We believe that the school building should be the social center, and the taxpayers should have the right to use this building free of charge for any public gathering, whether religious, political or social so long as no admission fee is charged.

But when any society desires to use the building for gain, they must pay $25.00 for each occasion, as it costs considerable to heat, light and ventilate for occasions of this kind, and furthermore we do not want to place the school building in competition with other places built for entertainment purposes. Only such occasions as require a larger space than they can furnish will be considered.

We realize that it is hard to please everyone and are liable to criticism, but we do not intend to show any favors, but will treat everyone alike as nearly as possible.

In the recent misunderstanding we were informed that we were a fine lot of patriots, because we refused to allow this society the use of the building for a patriotic concert, at which they were to charge an admission fee. Our answer to them is that they can have the use of the building free for this purpose providing they do not charge admission, and if they wish to take up a voluntary collection during the concert to defray Decoration day expenses, we have, not the slightest objection.

We consider a concert of this kind very appropriate and sincerely approve of it, but we do not feel that any particular organization should attempt to profit financially in a public matter of this kind.

If any stated amount is needed for Decoration day purposes, it can be announced at the concert and we are certain that the amount can be easily raised by voluntary contribution.

Respectfully,
Board of Education.

THAT HE WAS A GERMAN SPY.

George Mussler seems to have gotten in bad owing to the report that he had been locked up in Ludington jail last week because of his pro-German sentiments. He returned home to Grayling Friday last and seemed surprised when questioned about the matter. He said that the report was news to him and that he had not been arrested and not been in jail. Mr. Mussler is of German birth, has been in this country nearly 25 years and been a citizen of the U. S. since the year 1900. The worst thing about Mussler seems to be that he takes a little too much to drink occasionally, say some of his friends, and this seemed to be his condition Tuesday night when calling on parties on DuPont avenue. At this time he was apprehended by workmen of the plant and asked what he was doing there. He replied that it was none of their business. An argument followed, is the report, and Mussler was struck in the face and knocked down. His assailants reported the matter to Sheriff Cody and the latter investigated. He searched Mussler's room at the hotel and questioned the accused and finally concluded that there was "nothing to it" and let him go. Mr. Mussler has worked for a number of years at the Mills market and is known as a peaceable citizen, and it appears that the suspicion thrown around him by the stories purporting to have come from Ludington, is making him a lot of trouble, whether they are founded on the truth or not.

GRAPE VINES FOR AUSABLE RIVER

Sportsmen Arrange with Nursery Company for Establishment of Arbors at Canoe Trip Landings.

(From Oscoda Press.)
That the alluvial soils of the lowlands bordering the Ausable river should make productive grounds for grapes is the opinion of Ilgenfritz and Company's nurserymen, Monroe, in answering a query of local sportsmen as to the availability of creating small arbors at each camping place on the big Michigan stream. The Company goes further and has offered to bear half the expense of establishing such stands, providing that the sportsmen give assurance that the arbors will be protected and not carried away or destroyed.

Arrangements have already been made for the planting of the Niagara, Worden, Brighton, and Moore's early at the scheduled landing points charted on the Detroit and Mackinaw railway map. The product of the vine will be for any person who happens to come along, such as campers, hunters and cruisers, but the ethics of the plan provides that no person pluck more of the grapes than are required for their immediate use.

Great quantities of wild grapes now grow on the river flats.

School Notes

We have a flag in every room.

The flag salute is given in each room at least once a week. In some rooms it is given each day.

Pancy Loeis has returned to school after several weeks of illness.

The second grade are very much interested in the study of Japan.

Edson Bates from Mistic, Iowa, has been visiting in the 5th grade last week and this.

Edmund, Ona, Robert and Chester Lozon are new pupils this week, their folks having just moved here from Kawkawlin.

The second year German class has begun the study of Schiller's Maria Stuart.

The 7 B class in reading has committed to memory "The Star Spangled Banner."

Boys and girls chosen from the 4th and 5th grades will sing "One Flag, One Country" at the entertainment to be given by the ladies of the G. A. R. in the Temple theatre tomorrow evening.

It is rather difficult to teach the geography of Europe at the present time, but the 7 B class are much interested in modifying the statements in their text books.

The 7 A reading class have asked to be allowed to study President Wilson's war speech. Surely nothing would prove more interesting for a reading lesson. It is a splendid production to study from the standpoint of rhetoric or literature. Mr. Ellsworth read the entire speech to the High school last week for morning exercises.

The girls of the High school drawing and painting class are painting bird sticks and seed markers which are to be sold by the Mothers and Teachers' association in May. The proceeds will go towards playground equipment for the school.

The High school class of 1917 consists of the following young people: Mildred Corwin, Belle Maxson, Anna Peterson, Arthur Karpus, Howard Granger, Frank Shanahan, Russell Lewis, Axel Peterson and Carl Doroh. Mildred Corwin and Howard Granger carry off the class honors, the valedictory and salutatory being given to the two persons having the highest average scholarship for the four years.

We are to have the first base ball game of the season tomorrow afternoon when our boys will play Frederic on our home diamond. "Karp" will be there to deliver the pills that will retire our opponents and Doroh will occupy the receiving station. Game called at 3:30. Admission, 25 and 15 cents. Come.

The Junior Hop will be given at the school gymnasium Friday evening, April 27.

COUNTESS AND COWBOY STARS IN FILM COMEDY

It is not often that a real countess and a real cowboy appear as hero and heroine of a motion picture story. This rare combination appears in the Bison comedy drama, "Roped In." The noble woman is Countess Du Cello, who has been of the famous band of Universal cowboys, every one of whom, though he was brought up to quite a different walk of life, is a real actor. He is six feet six inches tall, and one of the skinniest men on the screen. He has an absolutely imperturbable countenance, which is covered with a network of wrinkles due to his outdoor life. been appearing in pictures at Universal City for about a year, and the cowpuncher is Bill Gillis, a real Texan cattleman, who has spent his life doing in earnest what he now does in mimicry for the films.

The countess is of French family, but happened to be born in England, where she was educated. She has played for a number of picture companies, her previous occupation being, as she says in her biography, "private life." Bill Gillis hails from the Lone Star state, and has punched cattle for a living all his life. Somehow or other he drifted into pictures, and is a mem-funny in such a rib-tickling comedy as "Roped In." Neal Hart, who has also lived the life he now acts, is the foreman of the ranch owned in the picture by the countess, who marries Bill, and is treated to a modern version of the "Taming of the Shrew."

Rex Ingram, who used to be a sculptor, is filming a Chinese drama for Bluebird.

Phil Dunham has just finished a new L-KO Comedy in which he stands out as the best wallpaper-hanging comedian in the world.

WHY THE EYES FOLLOW YOU

Face in Pictures Seems Always to Be Gazing at You If Person Photographed Was Looking at Camera.

You probably have noticed that some faces in pictures seem to follow you, also that in other pictures there are faces which are not looking at you; but no matter where you walk, even though if he in the direction in which they seem to be looking, you will never find the face looking at you. Indeed, faces in pictures are either looking at us from wherever we look at them, or else they never look at us from wherever we look at them. The same is true of photographs.

The rule is very simple. If the person who is being painted or photographed was looking at the painter or the camera, then wherever you stand he will seem to be looking at you. If he was looking on one side, then where you stand he will seem to be looking on that side of you. This works very queerly if you have a group of people who are looking at the camera when they were photographed. If you look at the photograph from one side they all seem to turn to follow you and then to turn back to follow you from the other side. But if they were not looking at the camera you can never get them to look at you.

THE 3 D'S IN DODD'S

Mr. Robert W. Ferguson, Hingham, Mass., writes: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years. Had incessant backache and trouble. Nearly died from it at one time while in Vancouver, but overcame it by a persistent use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Finally I was completely cured. I occasionally use the remedy now in order to keep the kidneys regulated. I have the highest praise for Dodd's. You mustn't cross that bridge! Don't you see the notice? The bridge is supposed to be destroyed.' 'It is, hey?' roared Exe. 'Well, then, we're supposed to be swimming across. On, boys, and at 'em.'"

WAYS WITH EGGS.

The omelet is a general favorite and almost any kind will be well received.

As eggs are now becoming more plentiful and cheaper in price we may occasionally indulge in a well-made omelet.

Spanish Omelet. Separate the whites and yolks of six eggs; beat three tablespoons of cold water with the yolks, seasoning with a half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of pepper. Stir in the stiffly beaten whites very lightly.

Have ready a steel omelet pan, very hot and lightly greased with a tablespoonful of butter. When the omelet is well set on the bottom, place in the oven to cook on top; then fold over and serve with tomato sauce well seasoned. To make the sauce, use a can of tomato, a chopped onion, salt and paprika and a tablespoonful of chopped green peppers. Cook until soft and then strain. Place a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan; when bubbling hot add a tablespoonful of cornstarch; cook until thoroughly cooked, add to the sauce and pour over the omelet.

For those who enjoy a sweet omelet, the following prepared as above with these additions, is very good: Place a half cupful of blanched almonds in the omelet pan just before turning in the omelet. Give the almonds a little time to become hot and covered with butter, do not let them brown or the later cooking will burn them, then turn in the omelet and proceed as before, fold the omelet and surround with a hot maple syrup. The combination is especially delicious, as the nuts are crisp and a delicate brown.

Holland Eggs. Beat four tablespoons of flour with a teaspoonful of baking powder and sweet milk to make a thick batter. Add three or four well-beaten eggs; thin with a little milk and pour into a hot, buttered frying pan. Cover and set over a good fire. Slip a spatula under the sides and edges and when light and puffy turn the whole cake over. When brown slip on to a hot plate, butter and sprinkle with maple sugar.

Scrambled Eggs With Green Peppers. Break four eggs into a bowl, add four tablespoons of water, salt and pepper to season and two sweet green peppers cut in ribbons. Put a tablespoonful of butter into a frying pan, turn in the egg mixture and cook, stirring well with a fork. Serve piled lightly on well-buttered toast.

Stillst streams. Off water greenest meadows; and the That flutters, least is longest on the wing. —Cowper.

TOAST AND TOAST MAKING.

A good piece of toast is not made without knowledge. A poor piece of toast carelessly prepared is most unwholesome and indigestible.

Exact for toasting should be at least 24 hours old and cut, then placed in the oven to dissipate some of the moisture before toasting.

Then toast brown on both sides. A crisp, dry piece of toast is well masticated in the mouth, which gives it its good start in digestion. Zwieback, or twice-baked bread, is especially good for the sick, as it is browned until all the moisture is thrown off and it is crisp to the center.

Toast water is often given as a drink in intestinal trouble and is prepared by soaking toast in water, straining the water and serving it with, or without, lemon juice and sugar.

Milk Toast. For those who like toast dropped into hot milk slightly seasoned with salt and butter the old-fashioned method used by our grandmothers in making toast called milk or creamed toast may not be liked, but there is no more popular way of serving it if you have ever learned to enjoy it. Prepare nice crisp brown toast, dip the edges in hot milk, and butter generously. Prepare a white sauce, using as rich milk as is possible to obtain, or a mixture of cream and milk. To a pint of milk take two tablespoons of butter and when it is melted and bubbling hot add two tablespoons of flour, and when mixed add a pint of rich milk; cook until smooth. Arrange the bread, slice on slice, in a tureen and pour over the hot cream sauce. Season with salt, and for a change stir in a half cupful of finely grated cheese. Let it melt before pouring over the toast.

Grape Toast. Butter crisp toast that has been moistened around the edges with boiling water, then pour over the following: Melt a tablespoonful of butter, add a half tablespoonful of cornstarch, and when well mixed add a cupful of grape juice, less if serving but a slice or two of toast. Cook this until it has thoroughly cooked the starch, then pour over the hot buttered toast and serve hot.

Prune Toast. Cook a half dozen prunes that have been soaked overnight in water to cover. Remove the pits and put the pulp through a sieve. Add this to the juice in which they were cooked. Sweeten if necessary. Add a little cream and pour over buttered toast. Serve hot.

Health is so necessary to all the duties as well as the pleasures of life that the crime of squandering it is equal to the folly.—Dr. Johnson.

HONEY DISHES.

Honey is the nectar of flowers gathered by bees and ripened by them in the hive. The nectar is changed in the honey sac so that it finally becomes delicious honey. Different flavors of honey are made from different flowers. Honey is a natural sweet; foods prepared from honey will keep better than those prepared from sugar and molasses.

Honey Tea Cake. Take a cupful of strained honey, a half cupful of sour cream, two eggs, half a cupful of shortening, two cupfuls of flour, a half teaspoonful of soda, and a teaspoonful of cream tartar, salt, the amount depending upon the shortening used. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Oberlin Honey Layer Cake. Take two-thirds of a cupful of butter, one cupful of honey, three eggs well beaten, half a cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour and a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder. Bake in layers and fill with whipped cream mixed with strained honey to sweeten.

Honey Jumbles. Chop fine a fourth of a pound each of citron and candied orange peel, place in a dish and just cover with warm strained honey. Let stand overnight in a warm place. Beat two eggs, add a cupful of sugar, then add the fruit and honey, a little salt and 2½ cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, knead to a smooth dough, roll out very thin and cut in fancy shapes.

Pumpkin Pie. To a cupful of pumpkin add a cupful of honey, two eggs, a pint of rich milk, a teaspoonful of ginger, a grating of nutmeg, and a fourth of a teaspoonful of cinnamon, salt, mix and fill a shell. Bake slowly.

Butterscotch. Take a cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of strained honey, a teaspoonful of cinnamon; boil ten minutes; pour into buttered pans and mark off in squares.

A creed of the Open Road—To live our highest in all things that pertain to us, and to lend a hand as best we can to all others for this same end.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

ASPARAGUS AS A TONIC.

Asparagus as well as many other green, tender vegetables not only adds variety and flavor to various dishes, but supplies ballast to cleanse the digestive tract and mineral salts to stimulate the various functions and remove waste. An old Roman proverb was, "Let it be done quicker than you would boil asparagus," which discovery years ago has not been improved upon. This tender, highly prized vegetable should be cooked quickly to hold all its fine flavor and lose a little of its salts as possible. The best method to have the whole stalk well cooked at once is to put the bunches well tied into a deep pan, an old-fashioned tin coffee pot is an ideal dish, as the asparagus then will stand upright. The best sauce for asparagus is perhaps plain melted butter. Dipping the stalks into the butter and eaten as one does celery. The following sauce is rather difficult to make but is the best of all sauces for asparagus.

Mousseline Sauce. Take a half cupful of butter, three egg yolks, two and a half tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of paprika, and a fourth of a cupful of heavy cream. Cream four tablespoonfuls of the butter, beat the egg yolks in thoroughly, one at a time, then add the cream and salt and pepper. Set the mixture over hot water and cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Then beat in the lemon juice and add the rest of the butter in small bits, beating with a whisk. Do not reheat.

Asparagus served in a rich white sauce served on toast is a dish most common. Asparagus, cut in small pieces and cooked in milk is another good way to save every bit of the flavor. Season with salt, pepper and butter and if liked, a small amount of flour may be added for thickening.

Asparagus cooked and added to an omelet is another good dish. Simply fold in a few tablespoonfuls of asparagus as the omelet goes into the pan.

Poached eggs served with a white sauce and asparagus is another good dish. Serve the sauce on buttered toast with a poached egg on each.

For the Powder Puff.

Have you seen the new handkerchiefs made with a wee pocket at each corner in which, each morning, a fresh powder puff is placed for the day's needs? It seems clean and fastidious, thus to replenish the powder supply every day, and the handkerchief is a very logical and convenient place to keep it.

An equally handsome coat of covert cloth appeared among the early showing in a semi-fitting short-waist model, with big shawl collar and flaring cuffs. It proved its loyalty to fashion in buttons by the use of more than the needed number of them, but they were all rather small and covered with covert cloth. Seams were lapped and the coat faultlessly made. It had a compelling distinction, calculated to convince the critical that nothing can quite equal the coat of covert cloth for style.

Skating in Street Hat and Satin Dress. At the Princeton-Yale hockey match in New York, attracting a great deal of attention after the game, when the general skating began, was a blond young girl wearing a simple frock of deep navy charmeuse over which was a dark blue satin Mandarin coat embroidered all over with yellow and orange and cherry color. A blue fox scarf and a Chinese hat of navy straw with navy satin hand-worked crown with two small streamers completed the costume.

Cuffs Finish Blouse and Skirt. A sports dress in gray silk jersey, showing a peplum blouse, in what looked at first to be a slip over the head model, but which really was buttoned down the back. Turned back cuffs finished the bottom of the blouse, sleeves and skirt. Edging the turn was a cartridge plaited frill in orange color.

UNSURPASSED STYLE IN COVERT COATS.

For general excellence and all-around wearableness nothing ever surpassed the coat of covert cloth. It is a sturdy aristocrat among coats, and therefore returns to us each year along with the robes and other early promises of springtime. Its color and texture and stability give it an assured class and all that is needed to make its success each year is good style in designing. Coatmakers understand that designs must harmonize with fabrics. Coats of covert cloth are cut on smart lines and depend on them, and on the highest standard in workmanship, rather than on novelty or the use of adornments, to bring their recognition. Machine stitching, buttons, straps of the material are the recognized tailored means of embellishment.

The covert-cloth coat shown in the picture is long, falling within eight inches of the bottom edge of the dress skirt. A narrow belt of the cloth is looped over at the front and extended in long sash ends, as a concession to a prevalent mode, both in coats and dresses, which further recognizes in wide revers at the front and a cape collar. The very ample, flaring cuffs are beautifully tailored, with a machine-stitched V-shaped panel set in them and the same embellishment appears on the pockets. These are of the patch variety, cut long and narrowed toward the bottom with a flap at the seem just the prettiest of all ways of finishing them and there are any number of frilly models to choose from. Small flowers and fruits and narrow ribbons in velvet or satin, in trimmings that set close to the shape are very much at home on hats of this kind.

More often than not, the flowers or sprays of small fruits, are set close against the sides of the crown in hats of this kind. But the model shown in the picture is one of those in which a wreath of tiny leaves with occasional small roses, wanders about the brim, finding the crepe frills of all places, the best in which to rest.

The side crown is slashed to allow short lengths of ribbon to be drawn through it at four places. The ribbon is brought to the base of the crown and turned back into a single loop with an end that extends to the edge of the frill about the brim. The hat is made of silk braid sewed in rows to georgette crepe with a half-inch interval of crepe between the rows.

But, for very little girls and for older ones, these satin-covered shapes, which they are privileged to wear with needlework decorations, like their elders or with trimmings distinctly childish. BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

ORGANIZATION OF SCOUTS

When a boy registers as a scout, he becomes a member of a group called a patrol. A patrol consists of eight boys, one of whom is patrol leader and another assistant patrol leader. Patrols are formed into troops. Not more than four patrols are taken into one troop and three is considered a better number as the scoutmaster who leads a troop can get better results with a small group of boys than with a large one.

When a community desires to derive the benefits of the scout movement three or five men form what is known as a troop committee and this committee communicates with the local council which holds a charter for that particular district. In cases where there is no local council the troop committee applies directly to the national council. A scoutmaster is then selected and he receives a commission from the national council upon the recommendation of the troop committee.

Local councils are formed in communities where there are three or more troops. Such a council is made up of ten or more men. These men are elected as representatives of the various interests of the community including religious, educational, business and civic activities. In many cities each troop elects at least one member of its troop committee as a member of the local council.

The national council is made up of delegates from the various local councils, president and ex-presidents of the United States, governors of the various states, and a limited number of other men distinguished for their achievements in work for boys.

This in brief is the scout organization. It was planned with a view of insuring proper supervision of all scout work and of keeping the local council and the national council directly in touch with both the scout and the scoutmaster. As soon as any important addition is made to the scout program, as soon as some means is discovered of doing things better than they have been done before, this information must immediately reach every branch of the organization. Some of the best men in the country are every day volunteering valuable suggestions to local councils and to the national council and it is very necessary that these latest details of scouting should reach the scout and the scoutmaster with the least possible delay.

TO BE FIRE SCOUTS.

Fire Chief Elliot Whitehead of Oakland, Cal., appreciated the value of the scout preparation and believing that the scouts can be counted on in emergencies, is planning to form a fire patrol in each troop. These patrols will receive recognition at fires and will be counted on to prevent fires. Instruction in fire-fighting and prevention and direction for forming the fire patrols is given by the chief himself. Patrol leaders and older scouts are eligible to join these patrols.

At the end of the course of instruction, a short civil service examination will be given and the scouts receiving the highest credits will be eligible for election as fire chiefs, assistants and captains.

The patrol will be taken to visit the fire houses; the fire-fighting apparatus will be explained and demonstrated and fire drills will be conducted.

A distinctive badge or shield will be worn by the fire scouts. This organization will not conflict with the organization in the schools, but will serve to strengthen it, as the school fire warden will be even more efficient if they are fire scouts.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES.

Rochester (Mass.) Boy Scouts recently flashed a message across the city from the roof of one high building to the roof of another, by means of a semaphore, thus winning $20 from Jerome R. George, president of the Woodchester council, Boy Scouts of America, who offered that amount for the correct sending and receiving of a message which he had prepared. The message read: "The president says he will promptly approve an efficient and democratic plan for national preparedness. What is the matter with the Boy Scout plan?"

The Boy Scouts of Tacoma, Wash., have been making themselves useful this winter in cutting wood and shoveling snow for dependent women and old people. They divided the town into districts and carefully looked after every case which needed help.

A branch of the Boy Scouts of America has been organized at Tokyo, Japan, with the assistance of Col. James A. Irons, the American military attaché. About twenty American boys, all of whom are pupils of the Tokyo grammar school, have formed the nucleus of the organization.

A scout chooses as his motto "Be Prepared," and he seeks to prepare himself for anything—to rescue a companion, to ford a stream, to gather firewood, to help a stranger, to distinguish right from wrong, to serve his fellow-men, his country and his God—always to "Be Prepared."

Invented Hanson Cab. The inventor of the "Hanson cab" was Joseph Aloysius Hanson, who was born in New York in 1803 and died in London in 1882. He registered his "patent safety cab" in 1834, and it is said, received only $1,500 for his invention.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Could Do No Work. Now Strong as a Man.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jos. O'Bryan, 1755 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

HE GOT IN BUT DIDN'T STAY

Business End of Six-Shooter Was Ticket Upon Which "Bad Man" Gained Entrance to Show.

Some 40 years ago, when I was manager of Haverly's minstrels, the company gave an entertainment in Mark Twain's early home, Hannibal, in old Missouri.

I stood at the entrance taking tickets when a gentleman undertook to walk by me in a rather "don't-care-a-cuss" sort of manner.

"Tickets, please," I suggested in my always polite and refined manner.

"That's my ticket," quietly returned the gentleman, and as I extended my hand to accept the ticket I refused to accept it, for it was a nice big six-shooter he was fondling in a very sassy manner.

"That's good," I said, and he walked in.

Shortly afterward an unassuming little man came up to me and rather modestly inquired if I would extend the courtesy of free admission to the sheriff.

"Yes," I answered, "of course." And then I related to him the incident of the revolver.

"Where's the man?" he asked. I pointed to him and the sheriff exclaimed, "What, him?" and in about two seconds the before-mentioned six-shooter was in his own hand past me like a streak of lightning with the fine right fist of the sheriff securely attached to the back of the gunman's neck, and when the fist let go Mr. Man was in the middle of the muddiest street you ever saw.

In those days the mud of the streets of Hannibal was famous for its richness and depth and adhesive qualities.—Kit Clarke, in New York Sun.

LEONARD WOOD SUFFERS.

America's Ranking General Reduced to Satisfy Old Political Grudge.

Washington, April.—No satisfactory reason has yet been advanced by the Administration for the transfer of General Leonard Wood from the Department of the East to the comparatively unimportant post at Charleston, S. C. Of course, the best things Congress has to give are all going South, for the South is in the saddle at Washington as it never was before. Even the new government armor plant is to be taken away from steel centers and is to be located at Rome, Ga., or some other southern city. The big nitrate plant for which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been appropriated will undoubtedly be located at Mussel Shoals, Alabama.

But why the ranking general of the Army, whose ability is unquestioned, should summarily be removed from the most vulnerable point on the American coast, at a time when the country is on the verge of war is not understood in Washington.

The first official news General Wood had of the proposed transfer was when he had word from the Secretary of War saying he could go to Hawaii, the Philippines or the less important post, Charleston. To this General Wood replied, briefly, that, of the three, he preferred Charleston. When newspaper men attempted to interview him, he simply said: "I am a soldier and I go where I am ordered." Not that General Bell, who has been assigned to the new Northern department with headquarters at New York City, is not a good soldier. He is. But all during the preparedness plans, General Wood has been working night and day at his post on Governors Island, New York, and is largely responsible for the success of the Plattsburg Camps, the biggest step in preparedness. New York, of course, is the richest city in the country and the richest prize for any foreign fleet. It is honeycombed with plots and sprinkled with spies. Within the northern department are located some of the most important ammunition making plants, which would have to supply America in the event of war.

General Wood knew just what he would do in case of an attack. The men of New York who have been leading in preparedness plans regardless of politics were ready to stand behind him. He had no thought of his transfer until suddenly, the War department concluded to send him to Charleston, S. C., unless, as they told him, he wanted to get clear out of the country and sit down in the Philippines, or Hawaii.

It may be, of course, that the administration has good reasons for the General's transfer, but if it has, the reasons have not been advanced. In the meantime, members of Congress and citizens generally, altho loyal to the government and standing by the President, are saying that this, like the promotion of Dr. Cary Grayson, is a bad example of petty party politics at a time when the very life of the nation may be at stake.

Meanwhile, Leonard Wood, ranking general of the United States Army, the man who cleaned up Cuba, the old fighter whose face has grown lined and whose hair has turned gray, is working for the nation's defense, preparing, at the behest of a young Secretary of War, to go to the subordinate post in the South.

How One Family Saved

In the American Magazine a writer tells how he and his wife managed to save money and get ahead:

"On March 1, 1905, my wife persuaded me to take out five shares of building and loan stock, which necessitated my paying $5 every month. I kept at it faithfully and regularly, never missing a single payment, and many a month I could hardly see where the $5 was coming from, for at that time my salary was not very large. But I considered that I owed it just the same as I owed my rent.

"I kept at it with a determination that I would not let anything interfere, and after paying in for ten years and eight months the secretary told me that the series I was in had matured and that I need not pay any more. So he gave me a check for $1,000. You can easily figure that at $5 per month I had paid just $600.

"The profit represented the interest on my money for the ten years and premium had sold, and when the amount which I had paid then plus interest and premium reached $1,000 my obligation to them ceased, and I got the amount mentioned above, or $1,000. I have often said to my wife that we were just that much ahead, for I feel certain we would not have saved the $5 each month if we had not made the start and felt that we should stick to it until the stock matured.

"With that $1,000 I bought a $1,000 bond that pays 5 per cent, and instead of paying out $60 a year we get $30 interest each year. This permits us to save the $60 each year and in addition the $30 interest, which is almost double the amount we originally started with."

Happiness. Happiness is always a byproduct. It never comes to those who concentrate on securing it. The unhappiest person in the world is the one who constantly pursues happiness. Not more elusive was the nymph that fled Apollo than is happiness to those who pursue it as an end and aim. It always comes as a result of something else. The pursuit of noble things, the things essentially worth while, brings happiness. As a man goes on life's journey with a brave heart, doing the best he can and leaving the issues "to the powers that wait on noble ends," he often hears the faint flutter of invisible wings, he feels a presence, a companion. It is Happiness.—Chicago Herald.

Epigrams of Success

Let me, says B. C. Forbes in Leslie's, give a few of the business epigrams and mottoes of a prominent St. Louis merchant, since they throw light on his successful methods:

The difference between failure and success is doing a thing nearly right and doing it exactly right.

Concentration means strength. Scatteration means weakness. Having chosen one line of work or business, stick to it.

Spend fifteen minutes every night recounting your day's doings and planning to do better next morning. Always put yourself in your customer's place.

Character is the decisive force in business. I am a great believer in the business philosophy of encouragement. Settle claims promptly. The merchant who does not permit himself to be imposed upon occasionally will never get far.

If any of your men or any customer gets into a hole, always leave him a loophole to get out easy.

Quality of goods, confidence in your business and in yourself, ability and readiness to anticipate conditions and to adapt yourself to them—these are some of the essentials to business success.

IS THIS TOWN
A WAREHOUSE
SUBURB OR NOTBy HONORE WILLISIE, Editor of the Delineator.

Two years ago the Delineator started an architectural series which we called The House That Grows. The plan was to present a house in three stages of growth, each stage being complete and habitable. One could live in the first stage until financially able to add the second, then the third. The idea was to satisfy the American desire for growth and improvement without sacrificing America's great need for permanent homes.

For the lack of homes is one of America's fundamental weaknesses. It goes hand in hand with our lack of family pride, and this breeds inevitably a lack of civic pride.

Community pride follows the love of home as surely as fine growth follows rich planting. And community pride dies where there is no community of interests.

The great complaint against the average suburban town is that it lacks interest in itself. You can't get the merchants and the townspeople to co-operate to any extent.

And the stores are poor and the suburban population is shifting and unreliable.

Doesn't this apply as well to the towns given over to mail order buying? Do you want your town, the town in which you have started your home, to thrive and improve? Well, it won't thrive and improve unless the tradespeople in your town are getting and giving a fair deal. Mail order buying turns your town into a suburb of a great city mail order house. It is taking out of your town the life blood, the circulation of which nourishes your home as well as those of your neighbors. It doesn't pay. That is why I'm glad The Delineator has excluded mail order announcements from the advertising columns. It has removed from our readers' homes a powerful temptation to buy away from home.

ROYAL RAIMENT FROM AMERICAN SPECIFICATIONS

Royal wardrobes from American dress patterns? Ridiculous! Nevertheless it is a fact that for years the nobility of England, France, Germany and other European powers have been fashioning the garments of their women folk from identically the same tissue paper pattern that is on sale in practically every nook and corner of the United States.

The funny part of it is that, while the world recognizes that Paris originates style, few people realize that the distribution of style information and the adaptation of Paris creations to the world's millions of well-dressed women are entirely in the hands of Americans.

There is one sixteen story building in New York City entirely devoted to the business of making dress patterns and publishing magazines which go to the four corners of the earth regularly with style information gathered from the fashion centers of the world, particularly Paris. These magazines not only are read in the United States to the extent of 1,500,000 a month, but the counterpart of one of them goes regularly to England, France, Germany, Italy and the Spanish speaking countries in editions especially prepared in those languages.

Furthermore, the paper patterns, which reproduce the fashions illustrated and explained in this magazine, also go to all of these countries, where they outsell all similar magazines and patterns indigenous to those lands.

And the best part of it all is that the woman who lives in Paris, Tex., is enabled to buy the very latest pattern from the house of Butterick at the same time that the woman of Paris, France, is seeking the same pattern in the Avenue de l'Opera shop of the concern. An interesting exhibit at the New York plant is a collection of original letters from titled ladies of Europe ordering Butterick patterns or the foreign editions of The Delineator. There are so many of these letters from French, English, German, Austrian, Russian and Scandinavian noblemen that the eleven vellum bound volumes in which they are kept are known as "Butterick's Peerage." One letter is from the British Royal household, advising that the present Prince of Wales, as a child was dressed by Butterick patterns. This supremacy of a United States institution in fashion distribution is certainly gratifying to every red blooded American who believes in "America Over All."

Constipation and Indigestion.

These are twin evils. Persons suffering from indigestion are often troubled with constipation. Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill., writes that when she first moved to Mattoon she was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation. Food distressed her and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on her stomach and chest. She did not rest well at night, and felt worn out a good part of the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets corrected this trouble so that she has since felt like a different person.

The Bright Side.
If the present moment be hard, sad, painful, we have the opportunity not to complain. There will be some bright thing. Fasten on that; if none, then think that it might be worse. If it seem the worst possible from the outside, there is still this reflection—that we may make it worse by our own way of taking it in the soul.—J. Vila Blake.

HE WHO CONQUERS FATE.

I like the man who faces what he must
With step triumphant and a heart
Of cheer.
Who fights the daily battle with unfear;
Sees his hopes fall, yet keeps unfailing in
That God is God, that somehow, true and just,
His plans work out for mortals.
Not a tear
Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
Falls from his grasp. Better, with love, a crust
Than living in dishonor; envies not Nor loses faith in men, but does his best
Nor ever murmurs at his humbler
lot.
But, with a smile and words of hope, gives zest
To every toiler. He alone is great
Who by a life heroic conquers fate.

It was supposed that there would be a session of the county board of supervisors this week, beginning Monday but owing to a mix up on notice of meeting any business that would have been transacted would not have been legal, therefore the members returned to their homes the next day. Alfred Parker, arrested for breaking quarantine, was found guilty by a jury last night. The defendant claimed that he was financially destitute and that it was necessary that he support his wife and children, therefore he was let off on suspended sentence for a period of six months. This is the first in this kind of case to come up here for many years and no doubt future offenders will not get off quite so easily. Parker had been ordered by the Health officer not to leave his home, where one of the children had diphtheria, without first having his clothing fumigated. He deliberately violated this order, for which he was arrested.

Workmen began preparing the old garage building, back of Shoppens-gon's Inn, Monday, for the purpose of moving it to a vacant lot near the Company's blacksmith shop. As soon as this is out of the way the place will be excavated for an addition to the new hotel. This addition is to be of 100x30 feet dimensions and two stories high. It will be constructed of brick the same as in the original building. In the first floor there will be a living room, a barber shop, living rooms for the landlord and his family, bath rooms, sample room and five servants' rooms. Above there will be twenty guests rooms, all of which will contain hot and cold water and some will have baths in addition. It was hoped to have the addition finished and ready for business by July 1st but because of the delay on the part of some of the manufacturers in the shipping of material, it will be impossible to finish it by this time.

RAWLINSON DOES NOT WANT TO DIRECT

Herbert Rawlinson, star of the Red Feather picture, "The Scarlet Crystal," is an anomaly in one respect. He is probably the only leading man on the screen who has no ambition to direct. Most of them can hardly wait for the considered comedy of the drawing-room variety. But as the dissipated man-about-town, who is saved by a vision in the crystal from ultimate ruin, he has a part which taxes his dramatic ability to the full. He gets away with it as if he had played nothing else all his life. This is the first picture in which he has appeared since the injury to his leg which kept him time to come when they may assume the authority of the producer, and arrange all stories so that the hero may hold the center of the screen throughout five complete reels. But Rawlinson has no such desire.

"I may be deficient in the power of concentration," he says, "but I find that the acting of my role absorbs all my energy and capability. I am sure that if I were to assume the supervising of all the others, together with the thousand and one details which come in the province of the director, I should have to slight my own screen work; and that is something which I could never bring myself to do. 'Your best is none too good,' should be the motto of every picture player, in my opinion; and it might even be amended to advantage, 'Your best is hardly good enough,' would be a better way of putting it."

In "The Scarlet Crystal," Rawlinson has a role rather out of his usual type of part. His forte has always been out of business for nearly two months; and his many admirers will welcome him back to the screen.

MOVIE DOINGS

MISS ELLA HALL A SYMPHONY IN PINK

Ella Hall grows prettier every day, but she never seems to grow any older. The little Bluebird star is like Peter Pan—she refuses to grow up. Her latest photoplay shows her in the engaging character of a twelve-year-old housekeeper to two lawyers, living in bachelor apartments in dear old London. She also plays the part of an earl's daughter, whom the little housekeeper so closely resembles that she is persuaded to substitute for her for a few of the silk. There is a big ruche around the head, which also recalls the operatic heroine. Unfortunately we cannot see the lining, which is of flowered chiffon, in a pale yellow shade, with bunches of posies, in Dresden colorings, all over it. Miss Hall says that it is prettier than the outside.

She is all ready to go to dinner in a restaurant, so she is wearing a hat of pink silk crepe, with the new cloak, and her frock is of pink taffeta and silver lace. There are silver slippers, with tremendous heels to go with the pretty costume.

STUDIO NOTES

Dorothy Davenport of Universal has a hard time making her dogs and her garden get along together.

Lynn Reynolds, the Bluebird director, has completed a picture staged in Alaska.

The Universal Screen Magazine has been such a huge success that it will be released every week.

Henry de Vries, famous Protean actor, supported Ruth Stonehouse in its Bluebird, "The Saintly Sinner."

Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber have the leads in the new Universal serial, "The Voice on the Wire."

Director General Blystone of the L-KO Komedies has been forced, by bad weather, to put aside his circus picture for the present.

Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, the Universal Nestor comedians, are immensely popular in Scotland's picture theatres.

The nickname of Agnes Vernon, the little Bluebird star, playing in "The Man Who Took a Chance," is "Brownie."

Jack Mulhall, who kills four men in the first reel of the Red Feather, "The Terror," says really he wouldn't hurt a fly.

Joe Moore, the youngest of the famous picture family, is cast in a forthcoming L-KO Comedy with Alice Howell.

The scene of Mary MacLaren's next Bluebird will be laid during the Indian wars, and the play is called "The Plover Woman."

Stuart Paton, the director of the next Universal serial, "The Voice on the Wire," is a Scotchman by birth, and has offered his services to his country.

Dan Russell is starred in a picture built around a six-day bicycle race. The plans which were used for the track at Madison Square Garden in New York were borrowed for the construction of the set.

This week the yard office building of the M.C.R.R. is being moved further north and will be used for the freight office. The freight building will be re-modeled and enlarged. The yard office and trainmaster's office crews are moving into the passenger depot and will occupy that section that had been formerly used as a dining and lunch room. The latter has been re-modeled to suit the conditions and requirements. The passenger depot building is being slicked up, annexes removed and grounds cleaned and it is understood the Company will make a lawn with flower and foliage beds along one side of the building, opposite Shoppenagon's Inn. This will make a good improvement in appearances on the outside and in warm weather will be a spot much preferred to the dingy interior.

Mrs. Espen Hanson was hostess to about 60 of her lady friends at a luncheon at Shoppenagon's Inn Saturday afternoon. The affair was one of the prettiest of the early spring functions. The two long tables were decorated with bouquets of white carnations and green and each lady found her place by a place card decorated with yellow daffodils. A delicious four course luncheon was served after which the ladies went to the Social Club rooms, where the remainder of the afternoon was spent playing "500," or sewing. The rooms here had been made very attractive by yellow and white crepe paper decorations and bouquets of flowers. During the afternoon individual bouquets of daffodils were given out. The highest score in "500" was held by Mrs. M. Hanson and the second highest score by Mrs. E. A. Mason. On leaving every lady present expressed themselves as having had a most delightful afternoon.

PRESIDENT URGES UNITED ACTION IN WAR FOR LIBERTY

Wilson Issues Personal Appeal to the Nation.

ASKS THE FARMERS TO AID

Chief Executive Tells Them That They Hold the Fate of Nations and Asks Every Effort to Supply Food—Says the Supreme Test Has Arrived.

Washington, April 17.—In a personal appeal addressed on Sunday night to his fellow countrymen President Wilson calls upon every American citizen—man, woman and child—to join together to make the nation a unit for the preservation of its ideals and for the triumph of democracy in the world war.

"The supreme test of the nation has come," says the address. "We must all speak, act and serve together."

Putting the navy on a war footing and raising a great army are the simplest parts of the great task ahead, the president declares, and he urges all the people, with particular emphasis on his words to the farmers, to concentrate their energies, practice economy, prove unselfishness and demonstrate efficiency.

Text of Address.

The address follows:

"My fellow countrymen: The entrance of our own beloved country into the grim and terrible war for democracy and human rights which has shaken the world creates so many problems of national life and action which call for immediate consideration and settlement that I hope you will permit me to address to you a few words of earnest counsel and appeal with regard to them.

"We are rapidly putting our navy upon an effective war footing and are about to create and equip a great army, but these are the simplest parts of the great task to which we have addressed ourselves.

"There is not a single selfish element, so far as I can see, in the cause we are fighting for. We are fighting for what we believe and wish to be the rights of mankind and for the future peace and security of the world.

Devote Selves to Service.

"To do this great thing worthily and successfully we must devote ourselves to the service without regard to profit or material advantage and with an energy and intelligence that will rise to the level of the enterprise itself.

"These, then, are the things we must do and do well, besides fighting—the things without which mere fighting would be fruitless:

"We must supply abundant food for ourselves and for our armies and our seamen not only, but for a large part of the nations with whom we have now made common cause, in whose support and by whose sides we shall be fighting.

Must Supply Ships.

"We must supply ships by the hundreds out of our shipyards to carry to the other side of the sea, submarines or gunboats, what will every day be needed there, and abundant materials out of our fields and our mines and our factories with which not only to clothe and equip our own forces on land and sea but also to clothe and support our people for whom the gallant fellows under arms can no longer work, to help clothe and equip the armies with which we are co-operating in Europe, and to keep the looms and manufacturing there in raw materials; coal to keep the fires going in ships at sea and in the furnaces across the sea; steel out of which to make arms and ammunition both here and there; rails for worn-out railroads back of the fighting fronts; locomotives and rolling stock to take the place of those every day going to pieces; mules, horses, cattle for labor and for military service; everything with which the people of England and France and Italy and Russia have usually supplied themselves, but cannot now afford the men, the materials or the machinery to make.

Need Greater Efficiency.

"It is evident to every thinking man that our industries, in farms, in shipyards, in the mines, in the factories must be made more prolific and more efficient than ever, and that they must be more economically managed and better adapted to the particular requirements of our task than they have been; and what I want to say is that the men and the women who devote their thought and their energy to these things will be serving the country and conducting the fight for peace and freedom just as truly and just as effectively as the men on the battlefield or in the trenches.

Appeal to Farmers.

"Thousands, nay, hundreds of thousands of men otherwise liable to military service, will of right and of necessity be excused from that service and assigned to the fundamental, sustaining work of the fields and factories, and mines, and they will be as much part of the great patriotic forces of the nation as the men under fire.

"I take the liberty, therefore, of addressing this word to the farmers of the country and to all who work on the farms: The supreme need of our own nation and of the nations with which we are co-operating is an abundance of supplies, and especially of foodstuffs. The importance of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, is superlative.

"Without abundant food, alike for the armies and the peoples now at war, the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will break down and fail.

Hold Fate of Nations.

"The world's food reserves are low. Not only during the present emergency but for some time after peace shall have come both our own people and a large proportion of the people of Europe must rely on the harvests in America.

"Upon the farmers of this country, therefore, in large measure, rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations. May the nation not count upon them to omit no step that will increase the production of their land or that will bring about the most effective co-operation in the sale and distribution of their products?

"The time is short. It is of the most imperative importance that everything possible be done and done immediately to make sure of large harvests. I call upon young men and old alike and upon the able-bodied boys of the land to accept and act upon this duty—to turn in hosts to the farms and make certain that no pains and no labor is lacking in this great matter.

Special Appeal to South.

"I particularly appeal to the farmers of the South to plant abundant foodstuffs as well as cotton.

"The government of the United States and the governments of the several states stand ready to co-operate. They will do everything possible to assist farmers in securing an adequate supply of seed, an adequate force of laborers when they are most needed at harvest time, and the means of expediting shipments of fertilizers and farm machinery as well as of the crops themselves when harvested.

"The course of trade shall be as unhampered as it is possible to make it, and there shall be no unwarranted manipulation of the nation's food supply by those who handle it on its way to the consumer.

"This I say to the middlemen of every sort, whether they are handling our foodstuffs or our raw materials of manufacture or the products of our mills and factories: The eyes of the country will be especially upon you. This is your opportunity for signal service, efficient and disinterested. The country expects you, as it expects all others, to forego unusual profits, to organize and expedite shipments of supplies of every kind, but especially of food, with an eye to the service you are rendering and in the spirit of those who enlist in the ranks, for their people, not for themselves.

"I shall confidently expect you to deserve and win the confidence of people of every sort and station.

Efficiency on Railroads.

"To the men who run the railroads of the country, whether they be managers or operative employees, let me say that the railroads are the arteries of the nation's life, and that upon them rests the immense responsibility of seeing to it that those arteries suffer no obstruction of any kind, no inefficiency or slackened power.

"To the merchant let me suggest the motto, 'Small profits and quick service'; and to the shipbuilder the thought that the life of the war depends upon him. The food and the war supplies must be carried across the seas no matter how many ships are sent to the bottom. The places of those that go down must be supplied at once.

"To the miner let me say that he stands where the farmer does: The work of the world waits on him. If he slackens or fails, armies and statesmen are helpless. He also is enlisted in the great service army.

"The manufacturer does not need to be told, I hope, that the nation looks to him to speed and perfect every process; and I want only to remind his employees that their service is absolutely indispensable and is counted on by every man who loves the country and its liberties.

Every Garden Helps.

"Let me suggest also that every one who creates or cultivates a garden helps, and helps greatly, to solve the problem of the feeding of the nation; and that every housewife who practices strict economy puts herself in the ranks of those who serve the nation.

"This is the time for America to correct her unparadiseable fault of wastefulness and extravagance. Let every man and every woman assume the duty of careful, prudent use and expenditure as a public duty, as a dictate of patriotism which no one can now expect ever to be excused or forgiven for ignoring.

"In the hope that this statement of the needs of the nation and of the world in this hour of supreme crisis may stimulate those to whom it comes and remind all who need reminder of the solemn duties of a time such as the world has never seen before, I beg that all editors and publishers everywhere will give as prominent publication and as wide circulation as possible to this appeal.

Supreme Test Has Come.

"I venture to suggest also to all advertising agencies that they would perhaps render a very substantial and timely service to the country if they would give it widespread repetition. And I hope that clergymen will not think the theme of it an unworthy or inappropriate subject of comment and homily from their pulpits.

STATE WILL HELP BELGIAN BABIES

DOLLAR-A-MONTH CLUBS BEING ORGANIZED IN SEVERAL MICHIGAN CITIES.

130,000 CHILDREN STARVING

Work Will Help Lighten $3,000,000-a-Month Relief Burden Carried By France and England.

(By W. L. CALNON.)

Lansing. While Governor Sleeper and the war preparedness board are mobilizing the strength of Michigan to help America win the war, the state committee on the relief of Belgian children has begun the mobilization of "the conscience of patriotism" to feed the 130,000 starving children of Brussels and help lighten the $3,000,000-a-month Belgian relief burden of England and France.

In answer to the war-quickened question, "How can we help Belgium?" citizens in every community, where the thought of babies crying themselves to sleep without food and without hope has stirred any response at all, are being urged to form definite dollar-a-month clubs that will undertake a definite portion of the work of saving these children.

Scattered contributions have been coming in from all other Michigan, especially since the war sharpened American sense of obligation to Belgium.

To aid in the organization of dollar-a-month clubs, Henry S. Thompson, a Boston banker, former secretary of Harvard college, and Frank M. Sawtell, a Boston attorney, both of whom are giving a month of their time free to Belgian relief work, are spending two weeks in the larger towns and cities of Michigan.

Numerous Bills Killed.

The house has had a busy time recently killing off bills. Among those that have met defeat are the bill to establish county health boards; to name a special deputy highway commissioner who would have charge of all drains; to bar debts against unproved estates; to appropriate $50,000 for the agricultural fair commission; and to appropriate $5,000 to erect a monument to Maj. Gen. Wm. R. Shafter, of Spanish war fame, in Galesburg, his native village. The two latter bills were defeated, and several increases in other appropriations bills by the senate rejected, in a single session when the house members were in an economical mood after contemplating all the expenses the state may be put to because of war conditions.

To Care for Soldiers Dependents.

The Culver bill amending the military laws so as to bring the national guard up to the federal standard was recalled from the governor's office after passing the house and senate and additional amendments made to it that place in the military laws of the state the matter of caring for dependents of soldiers in time of war.

The state will pay $1,000 insurance in the case of the death of a Michigan soldier and up to $500 insurance in the case of disability. It also will pay $20 a month to wives of soldiers and $7.50 a month for each child under 16.

Slight Change in War Loan Bill.

The legislature has agreed to the war loan of $5,000,000, with which to equip Michigan soldiers and sailors and to send them forth without delay, as well as to care for their dependents left behind. The changes from the first draft of the plan were few. The notes or bonds issued to back the loan will pay 4 per cent annual interest instead of 5 per cent; the bonds will run 20 years instead of 10; $250,000 a year will be required for the sinking fund instead of $500,000; and the bonds have been exempted from taxation.

Insurance Code Reported Out.

Insurance bills of wide interest continue to take up a good part of the legislature's attention. The house insurance committee has reported out the insurance code, which has passed the senate, and which is the biggest bill of the session in size, covering nearly 300 printed pages. It contains all of the laws of the state on insurance now in force. Only minor amendments were made by the house committee.

Election Bill Passes House.

The house has passed the Nelson election bill, the main feature of which is that it restores party enrollment.

Senate Congratulates Congressmen.

The senate adopted a resolution of congratulation to the members of the Michigan delegation in congress on their votes for war when the issue was before congress.

Senate Passes TBC Bill.

The senate passed the Murtha bill to appropriate $25,000 a year for the next two years to continue the state tuberculosis survey, on which $50,000 a year was spent for the past two years.

The house committee on railroads has killed the rate bill to increase passenger rates on Michigan roads to 2 1/2 cents in the upper peninsula and 3 cents in the lower peninsula. It also dropped the Nelson bill to have the attorney general's department investigate the whole matter of rates and substituted for it a new bill to have the governor name a committee of three men in civilian life to make an independent inquiry into the whole matter of rates and report in time for the next legislature to have their figures available.

Food Raising Is Still Big Issue.

Food preparedness continues to be a big issue with the governor and other state officers who are preparing Michigan for a period of war. At a conference in Governor Sleeper's office which was attended by fifty prominent farmers, food manufacturers and others from all parts of Michigan, a special food committee was decided upon to act as advisers to the governor along with the war preparedness board.

The following were appointed by Governor Sleeper: Fred M. Warner, of Farmington, former governor of Michigan.

John S. Haggerty, Detroit manufacturer.

W. K. Prudden, Lansing manufacturer.

W. J. Orr, Saginaw, president of the Michigan Bean Jobbers' association.

N. P. Hull, Dimondale, former master of the Michigan State Grange.

Nathan F. Simpson, of Detroit, representing the State Grangers' association.

George W. McCormick, Menominee sugar manufacturer.

The food committee will do all in its power to urge increased production on Michigan farms this year and to solve as far as possible the problems of getting labor workers and seed.

Food Inspector Mikelent in a communication telling that 120,000 calves of the age of four weeks had been slaughtered in Michigan last year.

Where these calves allowed to attain the age of six months there would be an increase of 12,000,000 pounds of meat, he reported. The food committee will discourage the killing of calves only four weeks old.

Dry Legislation in Final Stages.

The prohibition bills have reached their final stage. After a flurry in the senate caused by the production of an entire new measure by Senator Wood which he wanted to substitute for the house bills, the prohibition program went through in a rush. The Wood substitute was rejected. The Wiley bill, providing the machinery for the obtaining of liquor for the five specified exemptions under the constitution and for search and seizure in case of violations of the law, was passed unanimously. So was the Damon bone dry bill, which the senate substituted for the McArthur bone dry bill. The Lewis bill, giving the enforcement of the prohibition laws to the food and drug department, was passed by a vote of 28 to 1.

Gansser Given Royal Welcome.

Major Augustus H. Gansser, senator from Bay City, who was unable to take his seat in the senate because he was in Texas with his regiment until within the past two weeks, was given a great reception when he appeared for the first time in the senate last week. He was escorted to the lieutenant governor's desk and made a brilliant address on military matters and on the needs of the soldiers. The major received a splendid welcome to Lansing, where he has many friends, made in the several sessions he has belonged to the legislative circle.

Economy Streak Short Lived.

The house, which had a fit of extra economy after the decision of the state to float a $5,000,000 war loan, soon got over it. Two days after defeating bills for appropriating $50,000 for the county fairs and for appropriating $5,000 for a monument to General Shafter, the house took both off the table and passed them, also adopting a bill to appropriate $4,500 for a monument to Michigan regiments on the Shiloh battlefield. However, the house voted down decisively the bill to raise salaries of justices of the supreme court from $7,500 to $12,000 a year.

Railroad Legislation.

The house adopted the bill to have the matter of railroad passenger rates investigated by a commission of three, to report to the legislature.

The senate adopted the Tripp bill to have passenger fares of 3 cents a mile allowed on Pullman cars, the roads to pay the Pullman rates and furnish enough coaches for passengers riding at 2 cents a mile.

Sleeper May Have New Staff.

The early departure of Governor Sleeper's personal staff to war duties was recognized in a bill introduced by Representative Peterman, of Houghton.

This bill would empower the governor to appoint five civilians as a personal staff, to serve without pay. None will have a higher rank than major.

"Spotter" Bill Goes to Governor.

The house bill to require railroads to give employees hearings before discharging them on complaint of "spotters," was adopted by the senate and now goes to the governor.

Delays Expected.

In the rush of bills which comes always in the closing days of a session, more delays than usual are looked for by reason of conferences being found necessary to smooth away the differences of the two houses on important legislation.

The house passed the Anderson bill doubling the license for non-resident fishermen, and the Culver bill imposing a severe penalty for the stealing of brass parts of locomotives and cars.

Rep. Newkirk has introduced a bill to create a commission to investigate the advisability of establishing a state system of parks and community recreation centers, the commission to report to the next legislature.

The senate adopted a resolution presented by Senator Damon calling on congress to provide national prohibition as a war measure and asking that congress submit to the states an amendment to the United States constitution providing for national prohibition.

WILSON WARNS ALL AGAINST TREASON

CAUTIONS ALIENS AND CITIZENS TO AVOID TREASONABLE ACTS AND UTTERANCES.

RECITES COURT DECISIONS

Warns That All Persons Committing or Concealing Hostile Acts Will Be Prosecuted.

Washington.—A proclamation warning all persons against the commission of treason or concealment of treasonable acts against the United States was issued by President Wilson.

After reciting the constitutional definition of treason, "treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them or adhering to their enemies or giving them aid and comfort," the document recites sections of the criminal code and decisions of the courts and concludes:

"Any such citizen or alien, who has knowledge of the commission of such acts and conceals and does not make known the facts to the officials named in section 3 of the penal code, is guilty of misprision and I hereby proclaim and warn all citizens of the United States and all aliens, owing allegiance to the government of the United States, to abstain from committing any and all acts, which would constitute a violation of any of the laws herein set forth. I further proclaim and warn all persons that may commit such acts that they will be vigorously prosecuted therefor."

NEUTRALS IN CONFERENCE

Swedish Foreign Minister Attempts Coalition Against Belligerents.

Stockholm.—Knut Agathon Wallenberg, Swedish foreign minister, has summoned a "neutrals" conference, which will sit in Stockholm with the task of defending neutral interests against all belligerents. He hopes to snatch from President Wilson's hands the troublesome task of enforcing peace.

The conference will not be confined to the three neutral Scandinavian states. Holland, Spain and Switzerland have also been invited and deputies may come from neutral lands beyond the seas. This is the first step seriously taken to protect the interests of minor countries, which are suffering from lack of food and from high prices as greatly as the belligerents, without having the belligerents' chance of making territorial gains.

MEXICANS MENACE BORDER

Carranza Masses 100,000 Soldiers Near American Soil.

El Paso, Tex.—One hundred thousand Mexican soldiers are being massed along the American border by the Carranza government. Every Mexican town on the border is to have a garrison stronger than any previously placed in it and artillery including several hundred new and large guns are being placed in each town.

This was learned by American army men through Mexican sources. The Mexican government gives as a reason for the big military movement its desire to preserve neutrality of Mexico in the war between the United States and Germany. American army men see in the movement a menace to every American town on the border.

Port Huron.—Port Huron high school seniors who go to war or the farm or factory will get diplomas anyway. This is announced by W. F. Lewis, superintendent of schools here.

Grand Rapids.—Immediate efforts are to be made to raise a troop of cavalry in Grand Rapids. It has been taken up on the suggestion of General L. C. Covell, and looks toward the formation of a Grand Rapids cavalry unit which, when completed, will immediately take its place as a regular National Guard.

Traverse City.—Several hundred school children are going to make gardens in their back yards and in vacant lots.

Kalamazoo.—Sentenced by Judge Des Voignes to enter the navy after having been convicted of larceny, Dorsey Smith, Arthur De Lamar, and Walter Johnson, all of Van Buren county, enlisted at the local recruiting station, and were sent "somewhere in the east," along with a score of other naval volunteers from southwestern Michigan. The boys came to Kalamazoo unaccompanied by an officer.

GREAT OFFENSIVE BEGUN BY FRENCH

ATTACK OVER FRONT OF TWENTY-FIVE MILES AND MAKE IMPORTANT GAINS.

CAPTURE 10,000 PRISONERS

Appears to Be the Beginning of an Intensive Battle From Belgium to the Swiss Border.

London.—French troops in the departments of the Aisne and the Marne have delivered a violent infantry attack against the Germans over a front of 25 miles and made important gains of terrain and captured more than 10,000 prisoners and large quantities of war material.

The battle took place between Solsons and Rheims and for a distance of over 18 miles, from Solsons to Craonne, the entire German first line positions fell into the hands of General Nivelle's forces, while east of Craonne a second line German position south of Juvincourt and another position on the outskirts of Bormerfort, running along the Aisne canal to Doleve and Courcy, also were captured.

Violent counter-attacks delivered by the Germans on several sectors were repulsed with heavy casualties to the attackers.

From the fact that the French troops in Alsace and Lorraine have renewed their fighting against the Germans, preceding it with heavy artillery preparations and delivering infantry attacks that netted them good gains of terrain and resulted in heavy casualties to the Germans, it would appear that all along the French front the moment is approaching for an intensive battle from Belgium to the Swiss border.

KAISER REVIVES PEACE TALK

German Socialists Spreading Propaganda in Belligerent Countries.

Copenhagen.—Germany is seeking to revive peace talk in all belligerent countries.

She asks peace—still on her own terms—though doubtless somewhat amended. In December Germany asked peace and was refused. Now she is planning to maneuver the allies into asking her for peace.

The scheme as established by information from high sources is world-wide in its scope. The main intrigue for peace is being exerted apparently through German socialists. Suddenly socialists in the Teutonic empire have become favored individuals. Their leaders have been cultivated assiduously by German officials. The German censorship has been unprecedentedly loosened to permit their communicating with socialists in Russia.

Meanwhile, German newspapers, in obviously inspired articles, are reiterating the fact that German cannot make any important concessions from the terms unofficially noised about at the time of von Bethmann-Hollweg's proffer in December.

BOAT CAPSIZES, 3 DROWNED

Accident Caused By Attempt to Change Seats in Boat.

Kalamazoo.—Francis Roe, 25 years old; Sherman Roe, 17 years old, and Leslie Sharp, 15 years old, were drowned while fishing on Goose lake near Chimaz, Kalamazoo county.

Two companions, Harold Bates, 22 years old, and Carl Spristor, 19 years old, reached shore. The latter spread an alarm and Sheriff E. P. Eaton was called.

The bodies were found in 10 feet of water only two rods from shore. Francis Roe was married and leaves a widow and a small daughter.

The accident resulted when two of the youths attempted to change seats in the boat, which capsized.

BRAZIL TAKES GERMAN SHIPS

Seizure of Vessels Expected to Lead to Declaration of War.

Rio Janeiro.—Marine forces have taken possession of German merchant vessels in Brazilian harbors to the accompaniment of manifestations of popular approval of the step.

The newspaper O Imparcial interprets the rupture of relations with Germany and the seizure of the interned ships as premonitory symptoms of a state of war.

In this connection, the public seen the eventuality of sending to Europe a contingent of 200,000 men, which would be formed exclusively of infantry. Brazil, it asserts, easily could organize such a contingent.

Charlotte.—H. L. Rockwood, superintendent of schools at Nashville, Spanish war veteran and retired captain of the Michigan national guard, is endeavoring to raise a battalion of volunteers.

Cadillac.—A unit of the American Red Cross will be organized in Oscoda county May 4 at the annual meeting of the Board of Commerce. Business men, to stimulate production, are urging the employment of a county farm agent.

Pontiac.—Employees of the Wilson Foundry & Machine Co. donated $492 to the Red Cross fund.

Sault Ste. Marie.—"The United States should not go into this war hating the Germans and seeking to destroy them. We should go with the same feeling as a surgeon entering the operating room, to cut out some malignant growth to save the patient's life and that of community. We should seek to save Germany from the malady within the nation that is eating out its life," said former Governor Chase S. Osborn in a speech here.

Like Two Famous Characters of Nursery Fame, Husband Was Too Fat and Wife Too Lean.

Chicago.—Like Jack Spratt and Joan Spratt of nursery fame, Charles W. Lasher, Jr., was too fat and Mrs. Lasher too thin. He weighed 220 pounds, she weighed 119. Naturally, Lasher's side of the bed sagged considerably, and Mrs. Lasher's side sloped gently down toward his re-

Ann Arbor—The Ann Arbor Driving park will be presented to the United States government as a drill ground providing the plans of the Ann Arbor park board carry. Foreseeing a great response among the students at the university if called for war, the park commissioners believe this plan will give students an opportunity to continue while they are being trained.

Muskegon Heights—Although the population of this city is conservatively placed at 7,000, only one saloon is in operation here, that of the Robarge Brothers. The second saloon, formerly belonging to James P. Taylor, now dead, has been closed indefinitely. To handle the enormous business of the one saloon in this city it has been necessary to employ 16 bartenders.

Hudson—Edward Frensdorff, of Hudson, has been negotiating with the management of a life insurance company, for insurance protection for Hudson men who enlist. Mr. Frensdorff wants 25 policies of $1,000 each payable to the dependents of the young men. DENMARK.

An old farmer at Ringsted went to town to sell his horse. It was an old, worn-out jade. It did not take long to sell the horse to a jockey for $95. The farmer wanted to buy a new horse. But that was not so easy, for the jockey had no suitable animal. Two hours later the farmer came back, and by this time the jockey had a horse that the farmer thought he could use. They soon agreed on the price, $135. The farmer drove home, well pleased with the deal. But when he came home his boy said: "Say, pa, this is our old horse." The old man would not listen to the boy. But the boy pointed out certain signs which convinced the old man that he had really sold and bought his old horse and lost $40 on the deal. The jockey had trimmed the tail of the horse and braided him into his mane, so that he looked quite different. Fortunately, it was found out that the jockey did not take the deal seriously. He only wanted to play a joke on the farmer to convince him that he was not such a good judge of horses as he took himself to be.

Among women at Copenhagen who are interested in political events there is great indignation over the course of Miss Jennette Rankin in opposing the war resolution in congress. Mrs. Munck, wife of the minister of defense, who is a pioneer in the woman's cause, says the action of the first congresswoman is sure to be approved by the opponents of woman's advancement as proof that women are unfitted to enter public life. Marie Lessen, editor of a woman's publication, declares that "breaking down the first time when a woman in public life comes face to face with a decision of world significance is a disgrace to our sex."

The United States' main purpose in purchasing the Danish West Indies from Denmark was to defeat known German plans to establish a Zeppelin and submarine base there. Whether Germany planned forcibly to seize the islands or to purchase them from Denmark was not clear. Denmark, because of geographical position, is dominated by Germany and for reasons of national safety undoubtedly would have acquiesced in whatever course Germany demanded.

The Politiken says that neutrals who have been watching each addition to the ranks of the belligerents with deep concern never had greater cause for alarm than now, when the last state which hitherto with great weight and authority has advocated the rights of neutrals is throwing herself into the gigantic struggle. It continues: "For that small, insignificant spot on the map—Denmark—America's entrance into the war means new difficulties."

A Rotterdam dispatch to the Times says that the steamer Borneo is bringing to Xuyden 17 members of the crew of the Danish steamer Esther, which has been sunk. The men had been five days in open boats in snowstorms when they were rescued and the majority were unable to walk.

The Danish government finds it very difficult, not to say impossible, to obtain materials for repairing old locomotives. Almost half a dozen damaged engines are standing at Aarhus alone, all of them needed, but useless until repaired. The main trouble is with the fire boxes.

SWEDEN.

The government has prohibited the exhibition of animals by traveling troupes giving public entertainments. But ordinary local circuses are exempted from the rule.

Prince Eugen has decided to paint a series of frescoes on one of the long walls of the large auditorium in the city hall of Stockholm. The general motif of the paintings is to be "The Seaport of Stockholm."

Prince and Princess Harold of Denmark have been visiting in Sweden. Part of their program during the stay was winter sport among the mountains of Jamtland, especially the Åre mountains.

A large German balloon has landed near Cimbrishamn, a Swedish town on the Baltic, having been driven by contrary winds out of its course to the eastern front, according to a Stockholm dispatch. Four German officers have been interned at Stockholm.

Prof. Fritz Hanson Brock of the University of Lund, has figured out that the Swedish people spend about $50,000,000 a year for liquor and tobacco. One-third of the amount is for tobacco, $20,000,000 for whisky, and the rest for beer and wine.

What Did He Mean?

Bacon—Let me shake your hand, dear boy. This is one of the happiest days of your life.

Egbert—You're too precious, old man. I'm not to be married until tomorrow.

Bacon—That's what I say. This is one of the happiest days of your life.

An American lady writes from Stockholm: "More from a patriotic sense of duty our first visit in Stockholm was to the American legation. We looked on it merely as a polite formality, meaning later to hunt up the consul for help and information. But what a pleasant surprise—there was no waiting. A pleasant secretary with no foreign frills asked if we would like to see the minister. We said we would, and without any more ado about it were shown into Mr. Morris' office. The future queen of Sweden said something of the Morris that characterized them. She received me, and my knees knocked together at the thought of talking to royalty; but the crown princess has a pair of honest, direct eyes and such a kind and simple manner that you lose all thought except of genuine liking for her. Speaking of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, she told me of innumerable kind things they had done, of the great amounts they had given away in charity, and, she added, 'From them you will never hear one word about it.'"

The so-called Braft system in many ways curtails the right of a man to drink liquor. No man can buy a drink unless he keeps a personal account book, which he must bring with him, and in which every purchase is carefully recorded. Now it turns out that in Stockholm alone there are 1,500 men who have forfeited their account books because they have failed to pay their taxes promptly.

The late Mrs. Maria Redin, a widow in Stockholm, willed $8,000 to a number of charitable institutions and also a large number of objects of art to the National museum.

NORWAY.

Sam Eyde, the most aggressive and successive industrial promoter in Norway, is planning a new enterprise. He owns the Sande and Thon farms in Jærlsberg, and here he is going to construct garden and greenhouses on a large scale. Fifty acres will be devoted to the raising of young trees, 75 acres to vegetables, and 14 acres to fruit trees, hothouses and hotbeds. The great aim is to make Norway independent of the foreign vegetable market partly by raising vegetables, partly by teaching others to raise them. All the products will be sold only to wholesalers who pledge themselves to retail the goods at reasonable rates. Among the products mentioned are asparagus, strawberries, raspberries and pea plant. All fumbling will be avoided from the very start, for Sam Eyde has engaged some of the ablest gardeners of the country to conduct the work. There will also be a few foreign experts among them. The county gardener, Sten Stenerson, of Aarnes, will be the superintendent of the plants. Many young men will take practical courses in gardening this spring, so that the rest of the country may be benefited by the institution a year from now.

When Henrik Isen was manager of the Bergen theater in the fifties of the last century he became acquainted with Miss Rikke Holst. He was twenty-five and she was eighteen years old. He became so fond of her that he immortalized her by his poem, "Wild Flowers and Potted Plants." Miss Holst afterwards married a merchant named Tresselt, and sent the poems to a lady friend of hers, and they finally came into the hands of L. Ronne Petersen. Mrs. Tresselt, who now is a widow, has sued Ronne Petersen to recover the poems, and both a lower court and the supreme court have decided that he must give up the poems. He must also pay the costs, which amount to about $70, and a fixed fine for every day that he keeps the poems in his possession. The value of the poems has increased a few million times since they were written about sixty years ago.

The experience of the Norwegian steamer Nanna was highly humiliating and distressing. It came across a disabled German submarine in the North sea and, in the spirit of the Good Samaritan, proceeded to tow it to Germany. Off the coast of Jylland the hawser broke, and the Nanna signaled for help. No less than eight German torpedo boats appeared. The crew of the Nanna was ordered below decks, and both the Nanna and the submarine which she tried to save were taken to Cuxhaven. It was said that the Germans refused to conduct the Nanna through the mined zone. The Nanna was afterwards taken to Hamburg. The Norwegian authorities are endeavoring to have the ship released.

On February 1 the Norwegian merchant marine consisted of 3,400 vessels of 2,000,000 gross tons. This has been very materially reduced by the German submarines since that time.

The value of Norway's fisheries in 1916 was $40,000,000 as against $10,000,000 in 1914, according to statistics prepared by the Norwegian fishing controllers.

Otto Albert Blehr, one of the leading statesmen of Norway for a quarter of a century, was seventy years old last winter. He entered the storthing in 1883, and the next year gave legal advice in the impeachment case against the Stang cabinet. For years he represented Norway in Stockholm, and in 1902 he became premier of Norway, in which position he did a great deal to prepare Norway for the dissolution of the union with Sweden, which came in 1905.

GLOOM-JOY TEST FOR HENS

Poultry Men Believe Kindness Gets More Eggs Than Irritation, and Will Try to Prove It.

Vineland, N. J.—A novel experiment is to be tried on the grounds of the Vineland International Egg-Laying and Breeding contest by D. R. Johnstone, superintendent of the New Jersey training school, and Harry R. Lewis, poultry husbandman of the state experiment station in New Brunswick. Professor Johnstone has advanced the belief that kindness is an important factor in making hens lay. He will establish two pens of laying hens, one to be cared for by a person of cheerful mind who makes a pet of every hen, and the other pen to be in the hands of a man who carries his frown with him while attending the flocks.

Professor Johnstone says kindness to cows will produce more milk and he wants to learn to what extent chickens are affected by the different modes of treatment.

MUCH IN LITTLE

Wolves were far more common in Palestine in Biblical times than they are now, though they are yet occasionally seen. The wolf of Palestine is the common canis lupus.

At the close of the European war it is planned to complete the railroad connecting the cities of Changsha and Hankow, Hunan province, China. Trade conditions will be greatly improved by the completion of this road. There is at present no direct foreign trade

FRUIT LAXATIVE
FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

Going Too Far.

He had booked a room at a cheap boarding house near one of the railway stations.

When he was about to sign the register, when he flung down the pen in disgust and turned away.

"What's the matter?" asked the proprietor.

"Matter? Well, I've stayed in these railway lodging houses before and I've had some rotten, sleepless nights. But this is the limit. Look at that little beggar crawling across the page of the register! I've put up with 'em in the bedrooms, but when they crawl across the book to see what room you're sleeping in—well, that's a bit too thick."

RELIABLE REMEDY
RESTORES KIDNEYS

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. Dr. Kilmer used it for years in his private practice. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it will help you. No other remedy can successfully take its place.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Battifield Mascots.

An Irish soldier who had come out of the recent fierce fighting with a severe scalp wound had the following collection of charms: Piece of bog oak; prayer written by a French girl; withered shamrock; piece of wood from a saint's cell.

While many mascots are presents from mother, sister or sweetheart, some possess no sentimental associations. Quaint little idols carved in wood and lead, moonstones, bent coins and teeth of small animals are among the treasured charms. Most soldiers are shy of confessing their faith in mascots, says the London Chronicle, but hospital nurses soon learn of these hostages of luck.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

Used All Over the Civilized World for More Than 50 Years.

Stomach troubles seem to be almost universal the last few years; I mean indigestion in many forms, internal nervousness, caused by incompatible food fermentation, coming up of food, sour stomach, headache, apparent palpitation of the heart, habitual constipation, intestinal indigestion, caused by a torpid liver, and a general breakdown with low spirits and depressed feeling. Green's August Flower was introduced in this and foreign countries fifty years ago with wonderful success in relieving the above complaints. Sold by dealers everywhere at 25c trial bottles or 75c family size. Sole manufacturer, G. G. Green, Woodbury, N. J., U. S. A., Australia and Toronto, Canada.—Adv.

Sweet Innocence.

Mrs. Youngbridge—Our cook says those eggs you sent yesterday were quite old.

Grocer—Very sorry, ma'am. They were the best we could get. You see, all the young chickens were killed off for the holiday trade, so the old hens are the only ones left to do the laying.

Mrs. Youngbridge—Oh, to be sure! I hadn't thought of that.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription outline—double strength—is guaranteed to remove them homely again. Simply get an ounce of outline—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to get the double strength outline, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

FRANK'S GREAT INVITATION to Every Man and Woman to Accept an Opportunity to Better Themselves

In my last ad to you last fall in personal talks I stated to you that I hardly knew where I was at especially these unsettled times

Advancing! Advancing!!

Now I can say with a clear mind and willing heart that I did know where I was at when I tell you I took the risk of buying my fall and spring shoes at prices that can't be duplicated with $1.00 to $2.50 on a pair, and mind you this is direct from the largest houses in the U. S. with no intermediate man for a swollen profit. The factory takes direct risk from me. I have carefully looked over some of the catalogues and I find it is going to be hard to beat me out this year on any kind of competition. Agents who have visited my store ask me why I don't mark my shoes up with prices of today, then I come back at them and say you must remember there are catalogue houses listing prices which we have to compete with. Don't you think it doesn't do my heart good to know I am on the ground floor to do business with the biggest of them in the puddle and the only reason is it was my foresight. I had the largest year since coming to Grayling in 1916. I should have a much larger in 1917 with my prices to back me up. Will I get it? WATCH ME. The minute you enter this door and get my prices and see goods in front of you to back prices you will be readily convinced on the spur of the moment that I am a good factor in this business proposition in face of high prices

That's one big item. After you have read this booklet please don't cast it aside, bring it with you or give it to your neighbor, as this store is now the talk of the surrounding country as far as Gaylord as my name is known as a merchant with quick perceptions and a motive to back it up. Don't be afraid to write me. I will mail you anything and pay postage and anything that don't suit or fit, your money cheerfully refunded. I have done a nice mailing business in the past year and want it to be stronger. My phone is 1043; call me and I will willingly fill your order or give you prices.
